Her accession was followed shortly by a new Act of Uniformity (April 1559) which re-adopted Edward's Second Prayer Book with several amendments, restoring language from the Words of Administration from the 1549 book to those of 1552.

GOD CLEANSSES US FROM SIN

THE OPENING SENTENCES OF SCRIPTURE

THE EXHORTATION

THE CONFESSION OF SIN

Almighty and most merciful Father, we have erred and strayed from thy ways, like lost sheep. We have followed too much the devices and desires of our own hearts. We have offended against thy holy laws. We have left undone those things which we ought to have done, and we have done those things which we ought not to have done, and there is no health in us. But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us miserable offenders. Spare thou them, O God, which confess their faults. Restore thou them that be penitent, according to thy promises declared unto mankind, in Christ Jesus our Lord. And grant, O most merciful Father, for his sake, that we may hereafter live a godly, righteous, and sober life, to the glory of thy holy name. Amen.

THE ABSOLUTION

Almighty God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which desireth not the death of a sinner, but rather that he may turn from his wickedness and live: and hath given power and commandment to his ministers, to declare and pronounce to his people being penitent, the absolution and remission of their sins: he pardoneth and absolveth all them which truly repent, and unfeignedly believe his holy gospel. Wherefore we beseech him to grant us true repentance and his Holy Spirit, that those things may please him, which we do at this present, and that the rest of our life here- after, may be pure and holy: so that at the last we may come to his eternal joy: through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Amen.

GOD CONSECRATES US BY HIS WORD

THE INVITATORY

O Lord open thou our lips.

And our mouth shall show forth thy praise.

O God make speed to save us.

O Lord make haste to help us.

Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.

Praise ye the Lord.

THE LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father in heaven, hallowed be your name. Your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For yours is the kingdom, the power, and the glory forever. Amen.

THE SUFFRAGES

O Lord show thy mercy upon us.

And grant us thy salvation.

O Lord save the Nation.

And mercifully hear us, when we call upon thee.

Endue thy ministers with righteousness.

And make thy chosen people joyful.

O Lord save thy people.

And bless thine inheritance.

Give peace in our time, O Lord.

Because there is none other that fighteth for us, but only thou, O God.

O God make clean our hearts within us.

And take not thine Holy Spirit from us.

Edward VI's Book of Common Prayer (1552)

Today's Worship Leader: Freddy Fritz

To celebrate the 500th Anniversary of the Protestant Reformation, we shall use several historic Orders of Worship this fall. Today's service is Edward VI's Book of Common Prayer.

The death of Henry VIII in 1547 brought his young, Protestant educated son Edward VI to the throne amidst continuing calls for reform within the Church of England. In 1549, the First Act of Uniformity and Prayer Book were adopted moving the church in a solidly Protestant direction. Regarded by historian A. G. Dickens as a "masterpiece of compromise," nevertheless its remaining vestiges of Romanism led Calvin to call for further reform. John Hooper rejected it as "very defective," and Martin Bucer responded to it with his 50-page Censura, urging the reduction of the Church Calendar, the elimination of "popish gestures" left over from the Mass, and a restoration of apostolic simplicity respecting all things external (e.g., priestly vestments).

Consequently, a second Prayer Book was prepared and approved with a new Act of Uniformity in 1552. It is not often appreciated that much of the Prayer Book was directly inspired by the continental Reformers. Nearly all of Bucer's criticisms were adopted. Ceremonies were reduced and vestments curtailed. "Altars" became "tables," and prayers for the dead eliminated. As Peter Martyr wrote to Bullinger, all that "could nourish superstition" was removed.

In the Communion service, the Introit disappeared, and the kyrie eleison and Gloria in excelsis were replaced by the Ten Commandments, a feature of all the Reformed liturgies. The Confession, Absolution, and Comfortable Words of the communion service, as well as the Thanksgiving of the Post-Communion service were taken from the Cologne Liturgy written jointly by Philip Melancthon and Martin Bucer. The first exhortation of the communion service (exhorting the negligent) was derived from Peter Martyr's Ad horatio. Even the Words of Distribution at the Lord's Supper were derived from the liturgy written by the Polish Reformer Jan Laski for use at the Stranger's Churches in London (made up of foreigners who had fled Roman Catholic persecution on the continent), which in turn was based upon Calvin's Strasbourg liturgy.

In addition, in the liturgy for Morning and Evening Prayer, the sequence of Scriptural Sentences, Exhortation, Confession, and Absolution was taken from Calvin's Strasbourg Liturgy. Finally, the forms for the Solemnization of Matrimony and the Order of the Burial of the Dead find their origins in the work of Bucer.

The Prayer Book of 1552 is a genuinely Protestant form of worship which received the guarded approbation of the Reformers, though Calvin judged that it still contained multas tolerabiles ineptias ("many bearable pieces of foolishness") and complained "that it did not possess that purity which was to be desired" (letter to the English in Frankfurt, January 13, 1555). Edward's death in July 1553 brought first his Roman Catholic sister "bloody" Mary to the throne, and with
